Learning and Growing to Achieve Success

Our School Vision Statement

Our overall vision for Roslin Primary School is that everyone in our community will learn and grow as individuals, achieving success in different ways.

Our School Values

At Roslin, we value:

- Respect
- Trust and relationships
- Support
- Individuals
- Learning through Play

Our School Aims

Every day at Roslin Primary, we aim:

- for everyone in our Learning Community to have high expectations
- to foster a culture that recognises and nurtures attitudes and behaviour that have the greatest impact on learning
- to create a Learning Community that is welcoming, caring and helpful to all
- to promote an ethos of inclusion and celebration of individuality
- for the school to be safe place for all

ROSLIN PRIMARY SCHOOL

What makes this a great place to be?

There's been a big change in knowing what good learning looks like.

The way we think about learning.

We try new ways of learning.

The staff have good relationships - with us and with each other.

Everyone is supported very well.

Staff can read our body language.

We are included.

Our school rules have changed for the better. Staff listened to us.

ROSLIN PRIMARY SCHOOL

What makes this a great place to be?

We know different strategies to help us with our learning.

We get a say in what happens.

We get a lot of different learning experiences and opportunities.

We are given work at the right level for us as an individual.

Our school trips help support our learning.

The things we learn every day are new.

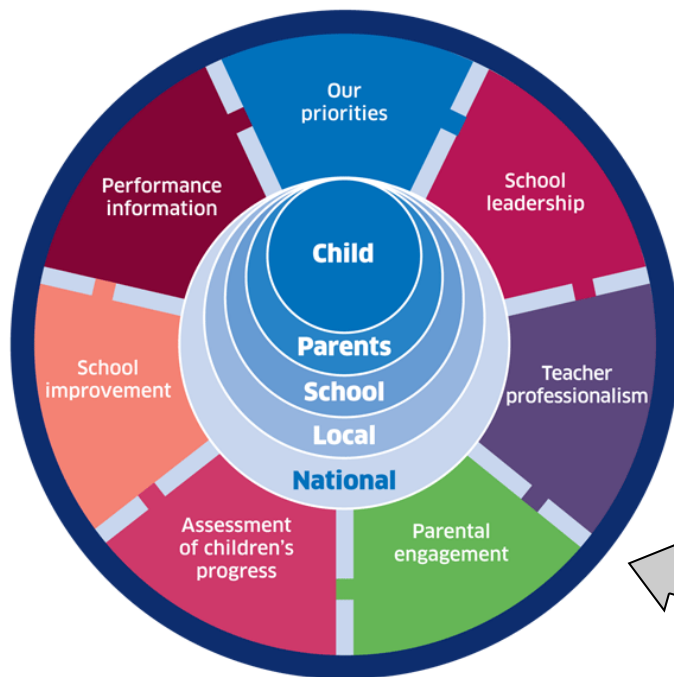

Staff like each other—and you can tell they are friends.

There is a lot of effort made by all of the children.

National Guidance

National Improvement Framework for Scotland

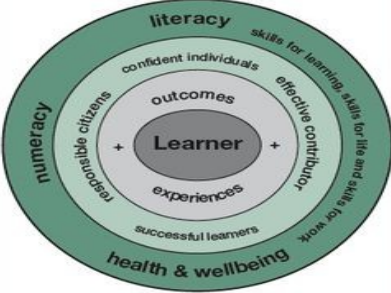

Key Drivers for Improvement

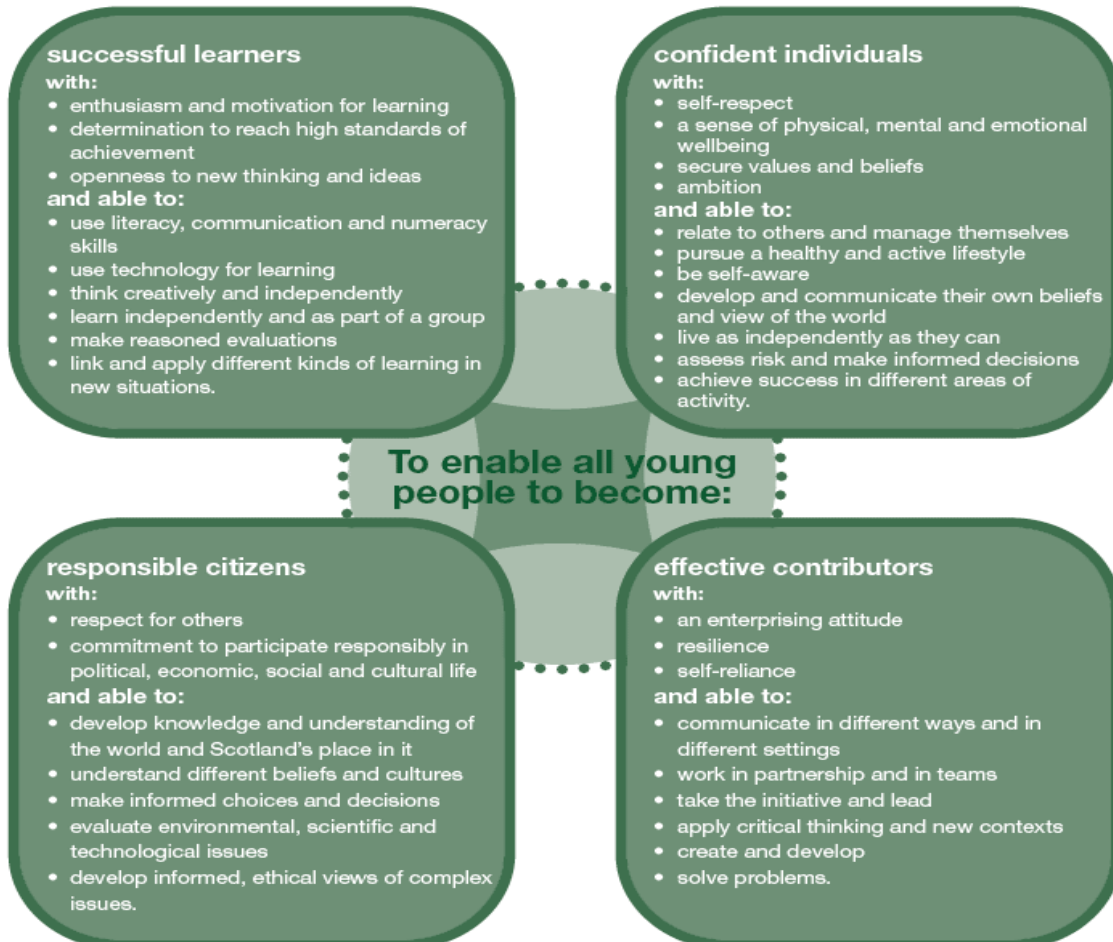

The National Improvement Framework and HGIOS 4, along with Midlothian's Strategic Overview Plan, help inform and guide our learning and teaching at Roslin Primary. Our school improvement targets are focused around the NIF drivers and we continuously evaluate ourselves against the quality indicators of HGIOS 4.

A Midlothian Learner

A Midlothian Learner

At Roslin Primary School we are working to improve our learning and teaching culture. We have been developing our understanding of the brain, mindsets and metacognition to help achieve this. Our understanding of the principles of Visible Learning have helped guide this work and we have been gathering evidence to evaluate the impact of this process.

The Midlothian Learner graphic is our school community toolkit. It highlights what all learners in our community should be trying to achieve—pupils, parents, staff and all stakeholders. Our staff, along with practitioner enquiry and a vast amount of professional reading, use this to guide conversations about learning.

Our school blog is used to share our steps towards an improved learning and teaching culture.

The Seven Principles for Curriculum Design

Staff at Roslin Primary School take into account all seven principles when planning for learning. They help inform our curriculum, learning and teaching and assessment practices.

Principle	How we address this at Roslin...
Challenge and Enjoyment            Children and young people should find their learning challenging, engaging and motivating. The curriculum should encourage high aspirations and ambitions for all. At every stage, children should experience an appropriate level of challenge. They should be active in their learning and have opportunities to develop and demonstrate their creativity. There should be support to enable children to sustain their efforts.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Learners are encouraged to embrace challenge and mistakes</li> <li>• One of our key aims is that all members of our learning community have high expectations of everyone</li> <li>• Learning opportunities are differentiated to suit the needs of all learners</li> <li>• Staff engage with current educational research that develops our skills in providing progression and challenge</li> </ul>
Breadth            All children should have the opportunities for a broad range of experiences. Their learning should be planned and organised so that they will learn and develop through a variety of contexts within both the classroom and other aspects of school life.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Staff design learning opportunities that are based on all of the Experiences and Outcomes</li> <li>• Transition information from one teacher to the next includes detailed discussion of what has been covered</li> <li>• We ensure that skills in literacy, numeracy and health and wellbeing are evident across all other areas of the curriculum</li> </ul>
Progression            Children should experience continuous progression in their learning from 3 to 18 years. Each stage should build upon earlier knowledge and achievements. Children and young people should be able to progress at a rate which meets their individual needs and aptitudes.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Staff are aware from transfer of information sessions, what prior learning has taken place</li> <li>• Continuously challenging pupils to reflect on their own learning to evaluate how secure they are</li> <li>•</li> </ul>

Principle	How we address this at Roslin...
Personalisation and Choice            The learning planned for children should respond to their individual needs and support particular aptitudes and talents. It should provide opportunities for exercising responsible personal choice. Once children have achieved suitable levels of attainment across a wide range of areas of learning, the choice should become as open as possible.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• We listen to the ideas and questions of our learners</li> <li>• We provide support for each individual's needs</li> <li>• Dialogue within the classroom links learning to real life skills and experiences</li> <li>• Learners are taught HOW to learn and how to identify their own next steps</li> <li>• Learners are encouraged to pursue their learning interests during Independent Learning</li> <li>• Staff use their knowledge of each child's prior experiences to ensure support and feedback is individualised</li> </ul>
Coherence            Children's learning activities should combine to form a coherent experience. There should be clear links between different aspects of learning. Such links should be discussed with children in order to bring different strands of learning together.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• We work to make clear links between the skills used in discreet lessons to those used in an interdisciplinary experience</li> <li>• Staff encourage learners to understand and reflect on the development of these skills</li> <li>• Learners learn to become aware of 'progression' and develop the ability to talk about their learning</li> <li>• Staff use their planning overviews to ensure consistency and coherence across a term or whole session</li> </ul>
Relevance            Children and young people should understand the purpose of their learning. They should see the value of what they are learning and its relevance to their lives, present and future.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Our learners know why, what and how their learning relates to everyday life</li> <li>• Staff consider the interests and activities of learners outside of school when planning contexts for learning</li> <li>•</li> </ul>
Depth            There should be opportunities for children to develop their full capacity for different types of thinking and learning, exploring and achieving more advanced levels of understanding.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Staff create a depth of learning by starting with skills development and the acquiring of knowledge, to applying those skills and knowledge to different and more challenging contexts</li> <li>• Learners are encouraged to show their learning in different ways</li> <li>• Staff work to ensure assessments include the application of skills</li> </ul>
